

NOTES AND QUERIES

HISTORICAL DEMOGRAPHY, INCLUDING STUDIES OF MIGRATION AND THE FAMILY, IN UNITED KINGDOM FIRST DEGREE COURSES

This list of courses in historical demography has been compiled by Geoffrey Stevenson from R. P. Blow, History at the Universities, Polytechnics and Colleges, Historical Association, 1977, 5th Edition. It should be emphasised that these courses consist of optional elements of general studies in the fields of economic and social history. Readers seeking further information are advised to consult the book by R. P. Blow before contacting the university concerned.

Belfast, Queen's University

The family and industrialisation in Britain from the eighteenth to the twentieth century

Brighton, Polytechnic

Industrialisation: disease, population and medicine
Emigration from Britain, c. 1780-1914

Bristol, Polytechnic

Women, work and the family, 1880-1914

Cambridge, College of Arts and Technology

Migration in nineteenth century Europe and America

Cambridge, University

The history of population and family structure

Cambridge, Homerton College

The history of population and family structure

(This is the same course as given at Cambridge University)

Doncaster, Metropolitan Institute of Higher Education

An introduction to the historical study of population in England to 1800

Durham, University

Population and labour history

East Anglia, University

Historical demography

Family structures in Europe

Edinburgh, University

Demographic history of the British Isles, 1800-1939

Essex, University

Population and society in Ancien Régime France

Keele, University

The family in industrial England, 1780-1870

Nottingham, University

The Black Death and its impact on English economy and society

Open University

Historical data and the social sciences

Oxford, Polytechnic

Historical demography

Reading, University

The family in early modern England

Ulster, New University

Population and migration

York, University

Historical demography